Really loving the work of artist Jason Page. "I create my photographs using a technique known as "Light Painting". In almost total darkness, I open the shutter of my camera for an extended period of time and use various light sources to create color and designs within the frame. Every light painting is unique and unrepeatable."

“I create my photographs using a technique known as “Light Painting”. In almost total darkness, I open the shutter of my camera for an extended period of time and use various light sources to create color and designs within the frame. Every light painting is unique and unrepeatabe. To produce my images I use everything from ordinary household flashlights to chemical concoctions of nitrate and potassium chlorate to create explosions of light. There is NO PHOTO EDITING! All of my light painting images are created in real time and captured to the camera in one single photographic frame.”

“Artist that have influenced my work include Man Ray in his series “Space Writings”, Gjon Mili’s Strobe photography, Pablo Picasso’s light drawings with Gjon Mili during a brief meeting in 1949, and Eric Staller.” check out a previous post on AmbushU about Picasso’s Light Drawing (photographed by Gjon Mili
